1. Indirect costs will vary considerably based on individual circumstances, preferences, clinical rotation locations, transportation needs, and optional educational resources. The amounts listed are three-year estimates based on historical University data and student feedback and are intended to provide a reasonable approximation of potential expenses. Actual costs may be higher or lower depending on each student's circumstances.
2. Health insurance is required throughout the duration of the program. The amount listed reflects the estimated cost of three years of coverage through the University-sponsored student health insurance plan. Students who have qualifying health insurance coverage through another source (e.g., a parent, spouse, employer, or independently purchased plan) may waive the University-sponsored plan by providing proof of coverage.
3. BLS and ACLS certification are required, and both certifications must remain current throughout the clinical year. The costs listed reflect the estimated cost of training through a program-recommended provider; students may obtain certification from another approved provider, and costs may therefore vary. Students who enter the program with existing BLS and/or ACLS certification, or who elect to complete certification on a different schedule, are responsible for ensuring that their certifications do not expire during the clinical year and for any associated recertification costs.
4. Privacy screens are required for all computer-based assessments. The cost will vary depending on the vendor and the type and size of the computer being used. The amount listed is an estimated cost based on what students have typically paid
